

LA FORME À PRIX DOUX
JUSQU'AU 31 MARS 2015

What is it the Petite Ceinture? Literally translate to the « little belt railway » which used to be a Parisian railway that, from 1852 to the mid-1900s, was a circular connection between Paris’s main railway stations within the fortified walls of the city. It’s now going under major changes, turning little by little into a green promenade and leisure activities (cafes, art locations, etc).

Who stay at Hotel Gaston? Travelers and mostly business travelers from Brazil, the US, the UK and North Europe.

In the neighborhood: Enjoy the new chill and modern Martin Luther King garden, at a 5 minute walking distance. Hungry? Local bistrot Chez Dewey is perfect for a solo or a family dinner (5 minutes away as well).

Useful add-ons: Free coffee and tea all day long / Perfectly soundproof / Free WiFi / Very Clean / International plugs / Room service. What the customers say?

Budget: From 90 to 140 € a night. Book on the official website or at +33 1 44 01 04 90

ABOUT US

Welcome to The Tourist in Paris.
We are a digital & print media dedicated to repeat visitors in Paris seeking for a local and personalised experience. You will find all about what Parisians do and where they go to enjoy the same pleasures offered by the city as they do, during your stay.
The Tourist in Paris has been founded by three Parisians. Read more about us here.
